DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Smith et al (US 6,544,942).
3. Smith teaches phase separating composition containing as a preferred solvent benzyl alcohol (see col. 5, lines 55-60).

4. Smith teaches additional components suitable for their composition including glycol ethers and alkanolamines such as triethanolamine (see col. 6, lines 23-60)
5. Smith further teaches the inclusion of a variety of suitable surfactants as per claim 2 (see col. 7).
6. Smith teaches additional high density solvents which also meet the limitation of the phenol based antioxidant of claim 4. For example acetamidophenol is a modified phenol compound inherently possessing the ability to prevent oxidation.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 9-12 are found to be allowable.
8. Smith fails to teach the specific use of the composition for removing solder flux as described in the applicant's method claims. As such these claims have been found to be allowable. No method of removing flux was found in which a very high percentage of benzyl alcohol is used in combination with the alcohol and glycol ethers. As such these claims are allowed.
